

Sensitive, Personal, Family Information

Please consider any secret or private items you may be storing, such as old love letters, confidential loan papers, or diaries. It is advisable to let someone you trust know what and where these items are kept so the items can be removed and dealt with should something happen to you. Better yet, you might deal with these now in whatever manner you feel is appropriate. Secrets, and the items that give credibility to them, can painfully change in an instant the way people think about us. Free yourself and your family of any such misunderstandings by dealing with these issues now. Thank you.
